

Picture Germain Droogenbroodt

POETIC AWAKENING

Beholding the stars
until daybreak, with its morning red, closes the iris of the night

experience the dreamed dream
not only as a dream

but read the veins
in the palm of the rose's hand

like the future of time.

GERMAIN DROOGENBROODT

Translation: Stefanie Van de Peer - Richie Mccaffery

From: "The Ephemeral Flower of Time – De efemere bloem van de tijd" POINT Editions 2017

The Poem of the Week is published in Catalan, Chinese, Dutch, English, Italian, Japanese, Macedonian, Romanian and Spanish. You wish we can also mail it - free – in one of those languages. See former published Poems of the Week in English, Spanish and Dutch at www.point-editions.com